Special Feature – DART’s Next Generation Cars & Lines

DART C-Section Delivery Creates Next Generation SLRVs

Customers can step out on the next generation of light rail vehicles as DART modifies its current fleet with a new, low-floor section.

The new center section of the vehicles adds seating capacity for about 25 more passengers and improves access through level boarding, which will allow passengers with disabilities - plus people with strollers, bicycles and the like - to step or roll directly onto the trains without using mechanical lifts.
